The Austin Tenants Council (ATC), is a private nonprofit organization that was founded in 1972 by the community and VISTA volunteers. In the decades since, ATC has provided programs and services to primarily low-income tenants and assisted them in accessing housing rights. We have produced the Guide to Affordable Housing in the Greater Austin Area (GAHGAA) since 1995 as part of our mission to ensure our communities are diverse, open to all and free from discrimination. The Guide features listings of affordable housing apartment complexes in Austin and its surrounding areas, as well as advice for low-income housing seekers.

This 15th edition of the Guide was produced through the generous support from the Office of the Mayor Pro Tem Kathie Tovo, as well as assistance from the City of Austin Department of Neighborhood Housing and Community Development. We would also like to thank the Donald D. Hammill Foundation for facilitating and providing financial support toward the printing of the Guide. Thanks to Greg Anderson for offering his photograph of our beautiful city skyline for the cover. Lastly, the GAHGAA could not have been completed without the dedication of the ATC staff who researched listings, provided information, adapted resources, reviewed, printed and prepared the guide for distribution. Special thanks to Lauren Rangel and Scott Shreder, who updated this edition of the Guide from start to finish and added the many new resources you will find inside, as well as Alexandra Begazo, who did the detailed last run of edits. Together we worked to ensure that this Guide helps provide low-income renters with meaningful options for safe, decent and affordable housing.

Thank you all for your generous support.

The graphic below details how you can use this Guide to find affordable housing.

Using the Guide

The Guide includes apartment listings for Bastrop, Bell, Blanco, Burnet, Caldwell, Hays, Travis and Williamson counties. The listings are organized by area in a table like the one below.

Apartment Contact Information	Bedrooms/Amenities	Communities Served	Property Details and Funding
Apartment Name Address Phone Number Website	Rooms Air conditioning Washer/Dryer Wifi	Income Level (A, B, C, D)	Total Units Low-income Units Income Restricted Units Funding Information

The “Communities Served” column will tell you what income levels (A, B, C, D) the apartment serves. Income levels are based on your area and the amount of money your household makes. You will find your income level on the next page. Apartments that base rent on income will have “Tenant Based” next to their income level. Apartments that only serve low-income tenants will list “Income Restricted”. This column will also list if the apartment accepts Section 8 Housing Choice Vouchers. Finally, the “Communities Served” column will also state if the complex only serves communities like the elderly or disabled.

Once you find a complex that accepts your income level, call the number listed in the “Apartment Contact Information” column. The apartment management company can tell you if there are any vacancies, how to apply, or how to get on a waitlist. Management companies and phone numbers may change, so if the phone number listed is incorrect, you can look online or go to the complex and inquire at the on-site office (if there is one). You can keep track of complexes you reach out to on the table provided in the Calling the Properties section.

Most apartments in this Guide participate in programs that limit the rent they can charge or require them to save a certain number of units for low-income tenants. The fourth column in the listings, titled “Property Details and Funding,” lists the programs that fund the affordable housing units. The Programs Descriptions section can be found at the end of the Guide.

The Guide also has information about tenants’ rights and additional resources. To view a digital copy of this Guide, please visit our website at www.housing-rights.org/gahgaa.html.

Income Levels

Before contacting apartments, look at the table for your city/county to find your income level (A, B, C, or D). Go to the column that lists the number of people in your household. Go down that column until you find an income that is more than your household income, then follow all the way to the left to find your income level (A, B, C, or D). When looking at the listings see the “Communities Served” column to find apartments that serve your income level and contact them for more information.

Project Based Section 8

The Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) provides affordable housing for low-income, elderly and disabled persons. HUD funds the Project-Based Section 8 Housing program. Project-Based Section 8 allows people to apply directly to Section 8 complexes. Tenants in these complexes pay only 30% of their adjusted income toward rent. Project-Based Section 8 properties have “Housing Project” listed in their “Communities Served” column.

Public Housing Authorities

Local Public Housing Authorities receive funding from HUD to run the Public Housing and Section 8 Housing Choice Voucher programs.

- Public Housing programs assign eligible applicants a unit within one of several public housing communities when space becomes available. Tenants usually pay only 30% of their adjusted income toward rent. Public Housing properties have “Public Housing” listed in their Communities Served column.
- Section 8 Housing Choice Voucher programs give eligible applicants a housing subsidy voucher that can be used in any community that accepts it. Tenants pay only 30% to 40% of their adjusted income toward rent. Apartments that accept vouchers will list “Section 8 Voucher” in the communities served column.

If you are interested in these programs you can contact a Housing Authority with the information below to find out if you are eligible. Housing Authorities can also tell you about program waitlists and application processes!

Calling the Properties

If there is anything that you want to know about the complex, like if it is close to a specific bus route, ask before you apply. Some questions you could ask when contacting apartments are:

- Are there any vacancies? Do you have a waitlist?
- What are the application fees?
- What is the rent for the unit? Are there any other regular fees?
- Are utilities included in the rent?
- How much do I have to earn each month to rent a unit?

Below is a table that you can use to organize the information you get when calling apartments.

Apartment or Housing Authority Name	Who I Spoke With	Notes (Criteria, Rent, Fees, Appointment Details...)

What is Housing Discrimination?

Housing Discrimination is when people are treated differently because of their status as a member of a protected class when searching, applying for or living in housing. The federal Fair Housing Act of 1968 ensures that people are protected from discrimination in the housing market based on the protected classes of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, disability (mental or physical) or familial status (pregnant women and persons with children). Fair Housing Laws protect undocumented persons and refugees regardless of immigration status.

Austin residents are also protected from discrimination based on age, marital status (being single or married), sexual orientation, gender identity, or student status. In Austin, veterans are also protected from discrimination based on their source of income.

Housing discrimination comes in many different forms and is not always obvious. Housing discrimination can look like:

- Refusing to rent or lease to an interested applicant because of their race.
“We don’t rent to your kind.”
- Treating people differently during the rental process.
“We have a separate waiting list for people with children.”
- Advertising that states a preference based on protected classes.
“Foreigners need not apply.”
- Refusing to make reasonable accommodations for persons with disabilities.
“We have a no pet policy – no service dogs allowed.”
- Showing people units only in certain neighborhoods, or “steering.”
“You would probably be happier in a Spanish speaking neighborhood.”
- Lying about the availability of a unit, when it is still vacant.

Avoid Rental Scams

If you believe you were a victim of housing discrimination, you can contact the Austin Tenants Council at 512-474-1961. Our Fair Housing Program will document and investigate complaints; provide information about remedies under fair housing laws; and coordinate legal services to assist victims.

Use these tips to avoid wasting your time and money on a unit that you cannot rent:

- Deal locally and in person.
- Contact the local county appraisal office to find out who owns the property.
- Do not send money or sensitive information before viewing a unit.
- Before signing a lease only pay an application fee or application deposit.
- Never wire funds, pay in cash, Moneygram, Bitcoin or MoneyPak.
- Do not rush. If the person you are working with doesn’t ask about your income or rental background, or pressures you to pay quickly, beware!
- Do not respond to suspicious emails asking you to pay up front for real estate services.

The Application Process

So, you have found a complex that accepts your income level and has a vacancy, now what? The graphic below will describe steps you can take before signing a lease.

Research the Property

Before applying for an apartment, research the property.

- You can learn neighborhood crime rates by contacting your local sheriff's office. The Austin Police Department (APD) Crime Viewer can be found at: <http://www.austintexas.gov/departmnts/admin-support/central-records>.
- Check the building for health and safety complaints. The City of Austin's Repeat Offender program registry can be found at <http://www.austintexas.gov/departments/repeat-offender-program>.
- Do an online search to see if the property has any reviews on google, yelp or nextdoor.com. Reviews can tell you a lot about a unit or landlord that you might not notice on a visit.

Visit the Complex and Unit

- Visit the complex and specific unit you will be living in before applying. Do not apply for a unit you have not seen.
- Talk to neighbors to learn more about the community.
- Visit at night to learn about community life and check for safety features like street lights.
- Ask about community fees, amenities, and appliances. Find out if appliances and air conditioning systems are new or energy star rated, as those will save you money on utilities.

Apply for the Unit

- When applying for units be prepared to pay application fees and deposits, security deposits and pet deposits.
- Review application requirements and submit all necessary paperwork to the management company.
- Get copies of all payments you make and documents you sign.

Review Your Lease

- Check that your lease includes the property information, the name of all tenants and anything you were promised or agreed to.
- Make sure that you understand and are comfortable with everything that is in your lease.

Advice for Applicants

Only apply for a unit if you are sure that you will move into it if accepted. Do not apply for a unit you have not seen.

- Application fees are not refundable.
- Application deposits are usually refundable if an application is rejected.
- Make sure that you can afford the rent before you apply. Some apartments require that you earn 2x or 3x the rent monthly.

Items You May Need to Apply

Check which documents you need to submit for each application. Most complexes will ask for:

- Proof of Income,
- Identification, and
- Rental History.

Rental Criteria

When considering your application, landlords will usually look at your:

- Current Income,
- Rental History,
- Criminal History, and
- Credit.

Credit

Your credit history is a record of debts and payments and may include if you broke a lease, damaged property, or owe money to a landlord. Check your credit before you start applying for apartments. Some apartments have credit requirements. You can fix credit by making payments to your creditors. Beware of companies offering to fix your credit for a fee.

People with bad credit, broken leases/evictions or a criminal history may consider submitting:

- Letters from previous landlords that describe you as a good tenant, and/or how you paid off debts you owed them after an eviction.
- Letters explaining what caused you to break your lease or become evicted.
- A guarantor/cosigner to sign the lease and share responsibility for the unit and rent.

Foundation Communities provides free financial coaching to eligible households that earn less than $55,000 a year. Additional program information can be found at:

<http://foundcom.org/financial-stability/financial-coaching/>

Utilities

Utilities are the charges you receive for things like electricity, water, wastewater and gas. Unless a unit is an “all bills paid unit”, tenants are responsible for paying for utilities. The cost of utility bills can be the difference between having an affordable apartment or not. The following are tricks to finding a unit with low utilities costs:

- An apartment facing North or South uses less electricity than a unit facing East or West.
- New and or Energy Star appliances use less energy.
- Units with both gas and electric should have lower utilities costs than electric only units.
- Units with old HVAC systems, the system that heats or cools your unit, use more energy.

When looking at apartments:

Ask if electricity bills are deregulated. If they are, you will have to choose your electric provider. When choosing an electric provider:

- Check how long the listed rate will be in effect.
- Check all terms of service agreements for hidden fees.
- Be aware that prepaid electric service plans might not cover the entire month. You will be disconnected every time your account runs out.

Ask if your utilities are sub-metered or non-sub-metered master metered. In non-sub-metered master metered units, the landlord allocates the utility bills through a master meter. Because of this, tenants may pay for more than their share of utilities costs.

A landlord may never shut off electricity or gas because the tenant is delinquent with a rent or utility payment. A landlord can shut off any utility in case of an emergency or to carry out repairs and/or construction.

If you are having a dispute with your landlord about your utilities, you can call the Austin Tenants Council Telephone Counseling Line at 512-474-1961. You can also find more information about utilities by visiting our fact sheet called “Utilities” at: <http://www.housing-rights.org/utilities.html>.

If you believe that your rights are being violated, you can call the Austin Tenants Council Telephone Counseling Line at 512-474-1961. We offer free or low-cost telephone counseling, online counseling, and mediation services.

Navigating Your Lease

A lease is a legally binding agreement that lists your rights and responsibilities as a tenant and the rights and responsibilities of your landlord while you are renting their unit. Once you sign the lease you are responsible for its terms including rent and fees. Read your lease and make sure that all agreements are included. Do not sign a lease that you do not understand or are uncomfortable with.

Your lease should include the following information:

- The name and address of the building owner or agent,
- The address and unit number,
- The names of all people and animals that will be living in the unit,
- The date of move in and the length of the lease,
- The rent, pet rent, pet fees, late rent fees and any other fees,
- The day of the month that rent is due, and how you can turn it in,
- Who pays utilities, and if your unit is master or sub metered,
- How to request repairs,
- When you must give notice that you are moving out, and
- What can be deducted from your deposit.

Some clauses to look for in a lease are:

Bedbug Addendum: May make you responsible for treating bedbugs in your unit. Read it carefully and follow all steps to ensure you aren't violating your lease.

Landlord's lien: Allows the landlord to enter the unit and seize certain nonessential items if a tenant is overdue on the rent.

Landlord's entry: This allows the landlord to enter the tenant's rental unit, usually for legitimate business reasons. Some leases require prior notice to tenant, most do not.

Re-letting or Early Termination fee: A charge for moving out prior to the end of the lease term. If there is not a re-letting or early termination fee, you might be expected to pay for all rent that was included in the lease.

Fees and Expectations: Do not overlook anything in your lease. Some leases allow landlords to deduct fees from rent, which can put you at risk for falling behind on rent. Others require tenants to have the carpets professionally washed before moving out.

Lease clauses that violate your rights under Texas Property Law are not enforceable. If you have questions about items in your lease you may call the Austin Tenants Council Telephone Counseling Line 512-474-1961! Our staff cannot give legal advice but can help clarify items that are in your lease. Anyone needing legal assistance should contact an attorney. Legal resources can also be found at the end of the Guide.

In addition to federal protections, Texas tenants are protected by the Texas Property Code. Lease clauses that void or violate your rights are not enforceable.

- A landlord may never shut off electricity or gas because the tenant is delinquent with a rent or utility payment. There are special rules for water and wastewater shut off.
- Tenants have the right to have conditions that threaten their health and safety repaired.
- Landlords are not allowed to retaliate against a tenant for six months after filing a repair request or calling an agency to inspect the building.
- Landlords can never use force against a tenant to get into a unit, but a tenant must allow the landlord entry under certain conditions if it is in the lease. Landlords can enter the unit if no one is home after knocking, for reasons outlined in the lease.
- Your rental unit must have smoke detectors. As of April 1, 2018, units in the City of Austin with gas or fuel burning appliances or that are connected to a garage must also have carbon monoxide detectors.
- Lockout is not an eviction. The landlord must go through the process of getting an eviction to lawfully remove a tenant.
- In case of a legal lockout the landlord must give the tenant a key to the unit within two hours even if the tenant does not pay the rent that is owed.
- Landlords must return the security deposit to the tenant within 30 days of move out, if you return the keys and provide a forwarding address. If the landlord deducts damages from the deposit they must give you an itemized ledger of those deductions.

Protect Your Rights

1. Read Your Lease. Knowing what your lease requires of you will help make sure that you do not break it!

2. Get Everything in Writing. Put any promises or requests in writing and keep documentation of the application, lease, repair requests and anything else that you sign.

3. Document Property Conditions. When you move in take pictures of the condition of your unit and any damages it has. Make an inventory sheet that lists any appliances and damages.

3. Do Not Withhold Rent. Pay rent on time and in full as is described in your lease. Landlords do not have to accept late payments. In Texas you cannot withhold rent even when your landlord is not making necessary repairs.

4. Document Payments. Always get a receipt for rent payments- especially if they are in cash. If you pay by money order, the stub does not prove the landlord received the rent, only that you bought it.

5. Give Written Notice. Prevent being charged additional rent by giving timely notice. Most leases require written notice 30 or 60 days before moving. Some leases require that notice is given at a certain time of the month.

Decent Housing

Tenants have the right to decent, safe, and sanitary housing, regardless of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, disability (mental or physical), or familial status. Austin residents are also protected from discrimination on age, marital status (being single or married), sexual orientation, gender identity, or status as a student. Undocumented persons and refugees also have the right to decent housing and can file complaints.

In the state of Texas, landlords must provide:

- Housing that is decent, safe, and sanitary;
- Hot water at a minimum temperature of 110° Fahrenheit;
- Smoke detectors; and
- Secure locks on all doors and windows, including a keyless bolting device.

The City of Austin Housing Code also requires that all residential dwellings in the city have:

- Heating facilities capable of maintaining a room temperature of 68° Fahrenheit;
- A kitchen sink, a shower or bathtub, a toilet, and hot and cold water.

Repairs

Tenants have the right to request repairs for housing conditions that threaten health and safety. Housing conditions that threaten health and safety include:

- plumbing stoppages,
- lack of hot water,
- electrical shorts,
- leaking roofs or ceilings, and
- rodent or bedbug infestations. For infestations, follow the regular repair request procedure. Never try to treat it yourself. Allow pest control into your unit for treatment.

Landlords do not have a duty to repair conditions caused by the tenant, unless it was caused by normal wear and tear. Repair requests must be submitted in writing or via certified mail. For more information you can also visit the Austin Tenants Council's fact sheet called "Repairs: The Tenant's Right and the Landlord's Duty," at <http://www.housing-rights.org/repairs.html>.

If repair requests are ignored, tenants may call local housing, building or health officials to inspect the building. Landlords cannot retaliate for six months after a tenant requests repairs or a building inspection. Austin residents can call the inspection department at 3-1-1 or 512-974-1855, and an inspection will be performed free of charge.

If you believe that your right to decent housing or repairs is being violated, you can call the Austin Tenants Council Telephone Counseling Line at 512-474-1961 and ask about our Repair Mediation Program. The program works with eligible tenants to enforce their rights to repairs of housing conditions that threaten health and safety.

Accessible Housing

Persons with disabilities have the right to secure, use and fully enjoy accessible housing. Fair Housing laws protect these rights by requiring that buildings made after March 13, 1991 meet seven basic design and construction requirements. These requirements apply to all units in covered multi-family dwelling units that have four or more units and one or more elevators and all ground floor units in multi-family buildings containing four or more units without an elevator. All covered multi-family units must have:

Requirement 1. An accessible entrance and route connected by a continuous and clear path to other accessible elements and spaces, including bus stops, parking and passenger loading zones, public streets and sidewalks.

Requirement 2. Accessible public and common use areas including parking lots, storage areas, indoor and outdoor recreational areas, lobbies, mailrooms and mailboxes, and laundry areas.

Requirement 3. Accessible doors wide enough to allow passage by persons using wheelchairs into and within the premises.

Requirement 4. An accessible route into and through the dwelling unit so tenants can access and use the unit.

Requirement 5. Accessible controls. Features such as light switches, electrical outlets, and thermostats must be placed in accessible locations.

Requirement 6. Reinforced bathroom walls so that grab bars can be added if needed.

Requirement 7. Accessible and usable kitchens and bathrooms designed and constructed so that an individual with a disability can use the space.

Persons with disabilities cannot be discriminated against or harassed for requesting permission to make, or be provided with, reasonable modifications to the structure of the rental unit or the common use areas. Landlords whose properties receive federal funding may be responsible for paying for reasonable modifications to the unit to make them accessible.

If you believe you were a victim of housing discrimination because of your disability, you can contact the Austin Tenants Council Fair Housing Program Line at 512-474-7006. Our Fair Housing Program will document and investigate complaints; provide information about remedies under fair housing laws; and coordinate legal services to assist victims.

Definitions

Accessible Housing- Housing that follows the Design and Construction Requirements of the Federal Fair Housing Act to allow tenants with disabilities to access and utilize all areas of their unit as well as public and common use areas.

Amenities-Useful features in an apartment complex such as air conditioning, Wifi, pools, playgrounds or community spaces.

Application Deposit- An application deposit is a fee that applicants pay to express to a landlord that they will move into a unit.

Application Fee- An application fee is a fee that an applicant pays a management company to process their application.

Co-signer/Guarantor- Co-signers or guarantors sign a lease with the tenant and state that they will be responsible for the apartment, its condition, rent and other fees if the tenant is unable to fulfill those responsibilities.

Credit- Credit is a record of debts, payments and account information. The account information will cover accounts currently being paid, accounts that have gone to collection, and any charges being disputed. Credit history also has information about broken leases, money owed to landlords or property damages, judgements, tax liens, marriages, divorces, arrests, convictions, and other public records.

Credit Bureau- The agency that reports people's credit.

Eviction- Eviction is the legal process a landlord must go through in order to remove tenants from a housing unit. Tenants do not have to leave their unit until a judge rules in favor of the landlord and orders the eviction.

Gross Annual Income- Gross annual income is the total amount of money earned by everyone in the household before taxes and other deductions.

Housing Authority- Housing Authorities receive funding from the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) to serve low-income, elderly and disabled persons. They run programs such as Public Housing and the Section 8 Housing Choice Voucher program.

Household Size- The number of persons who will reside in a housing unit. This number includes family members and roommates who will be living in the unit.

Housing Discrimination- Housing discrimination is difference in treatment based on a person's status as a member of a protected class. Protected classes include: race, color, national origin, sex, disability (mental or physical) and familial status (having children). Familial status covers children under 18, pregnant women and persons securing custody of children under 18.

Income- Income is money received regularly from work or other resources.

Income Based- Income based rent means that the rent for a unit is determined based on the applicant's income and/or household size.

Income Level- In this guide income levels are noted as A, B, C, or D. Income levels are based on the median incomes of an area. Level A includes incomes under 50% of the median area income. Level B includes incomes between 50% and 60% of the median area income. Level C includes incomes between 60% and 80% of median area income. Level D includes incomes over 80% of the median area income. Income levels are determined by the Department of Housing and Urban Development each year.

Income Restricted- Income restricted properties only serve people who make under a specific income or income level.

Landlord- A landlord is a person who rents housing to a tenant.

Landlord's Entry- A landlord's entry clause in a lease allows the landlord to enter the tenant's rental unit, usually for legitimate business reasons. This clause may not require prior notice to the tenant.

Landlord's Lien- A landlord's lien clause in a lease allows the landlord to enter the unit and seize certain nonessential items if a tenant is overdue on the rent.

Lease- A lease is a legally binding document that outlines the rights and responsibilities of tenants and landlords while the tenant lives in the landlord's unit.

Median Family Income (MFI)- MFI for an area is best described as the midpoint of income. Half of families in the area earn more and half of families in the area earn less. MFI is based on your household income and the number of people in your house. MFI is determined by the Department of Housing and Urban Development each year.

Project-Based Section 8- This program allows eligible persons to apply directly to specific Section 8 complexes to be placed on their waitlist. Tenants in these complexes pay only 30% of their adjusted income toward rent.

Public Housing- Public Housing programs assign eligible applicants a unit within one of several public housing communities when space becomes available. Tenants usually pay only 30% of their adjusted income toward rent.

Rental Criteria- Rental criteria are the factors that a landlord considers when reviewing an application. Common rental criteria include criminal history, previous rental history, current income, credit and information included on the application form.

Section 8 Housing Choice Voucher- This program gives eligible applicants a housing subsidy voucher that can be used in any community that accepts it. Tenants pay only 30% - 40% of their adjusted income toward rent.

Security Deposit- A security deposit is a payment made to a landlord to cover expenses relating to any repairs or damages that the tenant makes to the premises beyond those that occur due to normal wear and tear. Any refundable portion of the security deposit must be returned within 30 days of the tenant moving out. The landlord can deduct the cost of damages from the deposit.

Tenant- A tenant is a person who rents and occupies property from a landlord.

Utilities- Utilities are the charges for services like electricity, water, wastewater and gas.

Program Descriptions

The list below provides information about programs referenced in the Program Information and Funding Column in the Listings Section. The Information in this section was modified from the most recent version of the Guide to Affordable Housing in the City of Austin as well as City of Austin Resources detailing the different development plans and incentives.

Affordable Housing Disposition Program (AHDP/AHP)- Under this program some units in the property are set aside for low and very-low-income households at affordable rents. You can contact the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs for more information at www.tdhca.state.tx.us, or 512-475-3800 or 800-525-0657.

Austin Housing Finance Corporation (AHFC) Multifamily Bond Program- Offer apartment development discounts in exchange for at least 20% of the units financed being leased to households earning at or below 50% of MFI; or 40% of the units being leased to households earning incomes at or below 60% of MFI.

Central Texas Housing Consortium- The group is made up of the Temple and Belton Housing Authorities that run public housing programs.

Development Incentives- Incentives established by the City of Austin to encourage developers to create affordable housing or contribute fees in lieu.

Downtown Density Bonus (DDB)- Allows Downtown properties to develop taller and more dense buildings in exchange for creating affordable housing units or paying a fee to the Affordable Housing Trust Fund.

East Riverside Corridor (ERC)- This zoning designation is part of the master plan to modify the low density East Riverside Drive area into a mixed-use neighborhood with ADA compliant sidewalks, and bicycle lanes.

General Obligation (GO) Bonds -GO Bonds are voter-approved bonds. A specific amount of the bond proceeds is set aside for the development of affordable housing.

Home Investment Partnership Program (HOME)- Communities, nonprofits, and for-profit developers can receive these federal funds for building, buying, rehabilitating or otherwise developing affordable housing for low-income people. The HOME grant ensures that 90% of units are occupied by families earning less than 60% of the MFI. Rents in HOME assisted units must also be at or below the lesser of either the existing Fair Market Rent or 30% of the adjusted income of a family whose income equals 65% of the median income for the area. Rehabilitation projects must remain affordable for 5 to 15 years and new construction projects must remain affordable for 20 years. To learn more about the HOME program requirements you can contact the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs at www.tdhca.state.tx.us or 512-475-3800 or 800-525-0657. Relay Texas (TDD), call 800-735-2989 or 7-1-1.

Low Income Housing Tax Credit Program- The Low Income Housing Tax Credit (LIHTC) program is a federal tax credit program for the development and rehabilitation of housing complexes. The developer must provide either 20% or more of the units to individuals whose income is not more than 50% of the median gross income for the area or provide 40% or more of the units to individuals whose income is not more than 60% of the median gross income for the area. In addition, all the designated units have a rent restriction. The rent cannot be more than 30% of the income limitation applicable to the unit, including a utilities allowance. To learn more about the Housing Tax Credit program requirements you can contact the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs at www.tdhca.state.tx.us or 512-475-3800 or 800-525-0657. Relay Texas (TDD), call 800-735-2989 or 7-1-1.

Land Use Restrictive Agreement (LURA)- Sets land restrictions on LIHTC multi-family properties in exchange for offering tax credits in the future.

Master Development Agreement (MDA)- The Master Development Agreement of 2004 between the City and Catellus Development Group allowed for the development of the Mueller master planned community that features mixed-use buildings and a mixed-income residential neighborhood.

North Burnet Gateway (NBG)- The North Burnet Gateway 2035 Master Plan seeks to change the development code to create higher density, mixed-use walkable neighborhoods in North Austin that will connect residents to public transportation.

Public Housing- Public housing is funded by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) but owned and/or managed by local housing authorities. Public Housing programs assign eligible applicants a unit within one of several public housing communities when space becomes available. Rents at these complexes may not exceed Fair Market Rents set by HUD and the tenant usually pays only 30% of their adjusted income toward that rent. The difference between the tenant's share of the rent and the Fair Market Rent is paid to the landlord by HUD. For public housing and Section 8, the tenants' household incomes may not exceed 50% of the area median income.

Planned Unit Development (PUD)- This type of zoning covers large, multi-use developments that require more flexibility in development than would using typical zoning procedure.

Section 8 Housing Projects- Section 8 housing projects (aka project-based section 8) is funded by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) but the housing is privately owned. Project-Based Section 8 allows people to apply directly to Section 8 complexes. Rents at these complexes may not exceed Fair Market Rents set by HUD and the tenant usually pays only 30% of their adjusted income towards that rent. The difference between the tenant's share of the rent and the Fair Market Rent is paid to the landlord by HUD. For public housing and Section 8, the tenants' household incomes may not exceed 50% of the area median income.

Rental Housing Development Assistance (RHDA) Program- Developers can receive below-market rate financing to create and retain affordable rental units for households at or below 50% Median Family Income (MFI).

Section 202 – Section 202 is funded by the Department of Housing and Urban Development and is a direct loan and rent subsidy program for elderly housing.

Section 8 Housing Choice Voucher Program- The Section 8 Housing Choice Voucher Program allows tenants to pay 30%-40% of their income toward rent and utilities at any community that accepts the voucher. The difference between the tenant's share of the rent and the Fair Market Rent is paid to the landlord by HUD.

Section 811- Section 811 is funded by the Department of Housing and Urban Development and provides supportive housing for persons with disabilities (except elderly and some disabled units, for which HUD pays 100% of the rent to the landlord).

Safe, Mixed-Income, Accessible, Reasonably-priced, Transit-Oriented (S.M.A.R.T.) Housing- These properties are located throughout Austin to encourage mixed-income and mixed-use residential developments.

Texas Housing Trust Fund- The Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs manages the Texas Housing Trust Fund to provide loans and grants to eligible non-profits, for-profits, public housing authorities and local governments to finance, acquire, rehabilitate, and develop decent and safe affordable housing for low-income Texans.

Travis County Housing Finance Corporation (TCHFC) Multifamily Housing Bond Program- Developers can receive tax-exempt bonds to finance the construction or acquisition of multifamily apartments, if they set aside some rental units for low and moderate-income families. The standard agreement calls for 20% of the units to be set aside for tenants with incomes not exceeding 50% of the area median family income, and 90% of the units to be set aside for tenants with incomes not exceeding 120% of the area median family income. The set-aside obligation is in effect until the finance bond is paid off or until the Land Use Restrictive Agreement (LURA) expires. For more information contact: Travis County Housing Finance Corporation Travis County Administration Building 700 Lavaca, Suite 1560 Austin, TX 78701 Phone: (512) 854 9116 www.traviscountytexas.gov/corporations/housing-finance Transit Oriented Development (TOD)- Transit Oriented Development aims to promote efficient development featuring mixed-use communities within walking distance to public transportation.

University Neighborhood Overlay District (UNO)- The University Neighborhood Overlay District was established to create high density, pedestrian friendly development in the West Campus area.

United States Department of Agriculture, Rural Development- Developers receive finances to develop multifamily housing in rural areas by agreeing to provide affordable housing for very-low, low, and moderate-income families, or for elderly and disabled people. Complex owners receive a subsidy from RD so that tenants will not have to pay more than 30% of their adjusted income for rent. The Georgetown office services Bastrop, Blanco, Burnet, Caldwell, Fayette, Hays, Lee, Llano, Travis and Williamson Counties. Telephone: (512) 863-6502 Ext. 4 www.rd.usda.gov/contact-us/state-offices/tx

Veterans Affairs Supportive Housing (VASH)- A program between the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and Veterans Affairs (VA) that works to prevent veteran homelessness by providing eligible veterans with housing vouchers and VA supportive services.

Vertical Mixed-Use Building (VMU)- Vertical mixed-use buildings allow for the building to serve retail, office or other commercial purposes while also providing residential housing. The increase in density caused by Vertical Mixed-Use buildings aims to bring goods and services closer to residents.

Technical Resources

Median Family Income

The Median Family Income (MFI) is determined by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) each year. MFI is the midpoint of income half of families in the area earn more and half of families in the area earn less. MFI is based on your area, your household income and the number of people in your house.

https://www.huduser.gov/portal/datasets/il/il2018/select_Geography.odn

Income Levels

The income levels used in the Guide are based on Median Family Income for an area and household size.

- Level A is less than 50% of the area median income.
- Level B is more than 51% of the area median income but less than 60% of the area median income.
- Level C is more than 61% of the area median income but less than 80% of the area median income.
- Level D is more than 81% of the area median income but less than 100% of the area median income.

HUD Fair Market Rents

Fair Market Rents (FMR) is determined by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) based on average rent in the area. Fair Market Rents help HUD determine the rent and payment standards for various housing programs.
